Get the Family Moving - Together!

Did your list of New Year's Resolutions include both getting in shape and spending more time with the kids? Or, do you find yourself wondering how can you help your child get the recommended one-plus hours of daily physical activity when you can't even make it to the gym? Listed below are ten creative ways to start exercising as a family.

Go for pre- or post-dinner walks. Building a walk into your daily schedule ensures that it won't get put off.

Crank up the music and boogie down. Clear a small area in the house, put in a CD, and dance together. Let the kids take turns using a flashlight as a strobe.

Sneak workouts into other activities. Take the stairs or walk up the escalator whenever possible. When driving somewhere, drive part way and walk the rest of the way.

Turn TV commercials into fitness breaks. Invent silly names for simple exercises like squats, push-ups, and sit-ups, and then do them together until the show comes back on.

Have a weekly sports night. Designate a certain day of the week for a family fitness activity, and make your way to the nearest park, basketball court, or soccer field.

Walk the dog. If you don't own one, go for a walk and look for some in your neighborhood!

Start 2006 by getting active as a family! While these ideas are great for making everyday an opportunity for fitness, they double as quality time with your family.

PACT KCFC Program Spotlight:

Wanda Valencia,
Family Center Services Specialist

"Life" can be hard work, and we all can use additional support from time to time. This month, we would like to highlight Family Center Services Specialist Wanda Valencia and the Family Center Services Program.

Wanda has been with the Kaneohe Community Family Center since March of 2005. What she enjoys most about her job is helping families succeed, reach their goals, and realize their potential.

The Family Center Services Program helps parents, by offering:

- Family support and problem solving ideas
- Parenting support and education
- Help with finding a job, childcare, housing, and/or financial assistance
- Help with crisis situations and everyday family stress
- Information and referral
- Volunteer opportunities

All services are free and confidential. To speak with or set up an appointment with Wanda, please call the Kaneohe Community Family Center at 235-7747.
